

Expressing an Opinion

- Select a newspaper story to read.
- Read the story slowly, making sure you understand its content.
- Read the story again and underline three or more sentences that you believe to be facts.
- Write these sentences in the fact column of the “Expressing an Opinion” graphic organizer. Now rewrite these sentences to include an opinion. Be careful not to use words that might offend people or stereotype groups of people.
- Rewrite the headline of the story to represent these opinions.